PRODUCT DETAILS:

Woven rattan insets and natural oak finishes give the Lamu series a distinct aesthetic reminiscent of a modern exotic retreat. The media console within the series features three sliding doors that reveal an abundance of storage space with adjustable shelving. Its height is modest to accommodate for optimal viewing of large screens. Cutouts on the backside of the unit allow for discreet cable management for electronics. The signature rattan panels allow for remote signals to reach the consoles within without revealing the contents. Functionality, versatility, and style manifest in this attractive piece.
